Social selling is the search, the connection and the interaction with prospects and customers on social networks. It aims to build and to maintain relationships that create value in selling.

It is an activity that is becoming increasingly important. Internet and social networks have significantly changed the habits and the path to purchase of customers.

On one hand, new media provide customers with a considerable amount of valuable information, on the other hand, they easily connect them to companies and sellers.

Those looking for a supplier search for information on LinkedIn even more frequently. Recent researches show that LinkedIn is also the most effective social network for lead generation.

Being on LinkedIn and using it effectively make your sales grow!

Participating to our Course LINKEDIN LEAD GENERATION means learning how to generate leads on LinkedIn effectively using 'LEADS', the powerful Ottantaventi method. Our Course is:
